

Hobby – Travel

Travel as a hobby not only keep your zest for living but also act like a friend in silver years. In hurry and scurry of life our youth is spent in handling career pressure and fulfilling family needs which often leave us with little time to pursue our interests. Post retirement not only you have plenty of time and also an opportunity to rediscover old passions and interests once again.

Seniors seek experience-rich community-based travel where they can explore new aspects of the same places with a known group of friends. As the senior population in India continues to grow and mature travellers become more tech-savvy, the demand for travel experiences tailored to their needs will rise.
